A collage of blue-tinted photographs showing various people being painted by artists at outdoor events. The text "PORTRAITS EN DIRECT" is overlaid in a large, white, stylized font. The images depict artists of different ages and styles painting portraits of subjects in various outdoor settings, including markets and public squares. Some subjects are seated, while others stand. The artists are focused on their work, using easels and various painting techniques. The overall atmosphere is one of a lively, community-oriented art event.
